

OPENING THE PORT HALL RESERVATION.

POCATELLO.

A Building Room at the Gate City-Street Railway Prospects-For Delivery-Idaho People Want "One Joe" to Aid Them in the Reservation Matter-Dubois' Duplicitous Will Be Shown Up in Time.

Pocatello, Ida., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—The first chill blasts of a regulation winter have already swept down from their northern and icy fastnesses upon the great state of Idaho, they being but the precursor of old winter in its wonted garb, and bearing in its cold embrace the ill-anxieties and discomfort akin to wintry season.

SOME TRUTHS.
I am going to write out a few great truths bearing directly upon Indian lands, and the writer, free and untrammelled in every way, has no other object than to best subserve the interests of the people as a whole. Factional measures can have no weight on a question of such vital importance, as what affects the Port Hall reservation will, in a great measure, apply to Indian lands in other sections. It has taken both time and labor to ascertain the true status of affairs, as relating to reservation matters here, and the Herald may well believe such time and labor well spent, inasmuch as it is enabled to wholly discard all fine-spun theory and can come out and make a statement of facts and measures as existent, a refreshing feature at this time, and one that is replete with concern to the public.

I shall confine myself to the cold and unalloyed facts in the case, and if there be found some Democrats who have proved traitors to their constituency through selfish and direct personal motives, they will have but themselves to thank for the exposure, indirect though it may be, favoring of a Christian charity that may be, in the end, thrown away upon them.

STUCK THE COMBINATION.
Some moons ago, I came to Idaho, intent largely upon looking into Indian reservation affairs and giving to an interested public that insight they were vainly clamoring for, and to this end I have studiously directed my energies, the while the game went on at long range, i. e., between this spot and Washington. And it has been a great game. It has been more than that—it has been a double game all the while.

At the outset there were those who started out to work with the administration, and those others who were bending their every energy towards opening of these Indian lands, and after a time it became evident that every now and then a cog would slip in the reservation machinery, and the progress "pointer" would show that it had fallen off several points. How did it come about? What was the secret agency at work, and what the desired object in view? I confess that it was at first masquerading to me—then a happy thought struck me—some people were masquerading! I proceeded to work, that theory, and found that I had struck the combination to a dead moral certainty. Having struck the combination, a solution was readily given to the case that seemed puzzling to those purposefully hoodwinked.

So soon as learning certain things at this end, I at once took it up with the Washington end of the line through correspondence direct and pertinent to the time and place, and there was then divulged ample evidence to show that certain people, representing certain interests, had been and are up to publication of this, throwing down their friends on propositions towards opening of this reservation. They had not been suspected of treachery. If one cannot trust their friends, then whom may they trust? That's the way the valiant workers looked upon it. Who are these parties, and what interest have they in this regarding the good work? In answer, they are well known business men, and on the other hand, they will be found to be as fine gentlemen and possess as any, but they have entirely overlooked the rights of the people following out a policy outlined solely for personal gain.

THEY WANT THE EARTH.
These people want the earth, one may well believe, judging from the manner they have sought to delay things until they could throw a cable about all this Indian country and cut out from it such chunks as would raise them to a state of wealth and affluence.

There is the whole secret in a nutshell. They live in hopes of staving off allotment of lands until they can perfect arrangements in their own favor. And they are not jealous of strangers and outside capital coming in—oh, no!

Another point, and would you believe it? Some prominent Democrats have stood in with the little rascals to frustrate administration methods. Some of them are but the tools of prominent Republicans, and this makes it all the more shameful. And yet I take it that did the present administration choose to take cognizance of the action it would not lay with their Republican friends to tide them over their impending difficulty. I tell you the coils are tightening in some places, and whatever dread effects will in time be witnessed can only be charged up to a reckless disregard of the rights and wishes of an outraged constituency. Yes, I'm talking of Democrats—renegade Democrats. I have a far higher regard for the average Republican, politically speaking, than I have for summer Democrats, or renegades.

RESERVATION WILL OPEN.

This reservation will be opened and all the plots, all the machinations, all the scheming possible within the minds of those opposed, will not prevail against it. While there must necessarily be a vast deal of routine work connected with it, yet is the work going steadily forward, day by day, and is being constantly narrowed to a finish. Thomas F. Smith, Indian Inspector, has been here for the past two weeks, looking carefully over the ground. He and T. B. Tetters, Indian agent, have made a personal canvass of the topography of the country, in order to fully acquaint themselves in the premises and be prepared to make such report as is necessary. Mr. Smith is accredited as being one of the brightest authorities in the country on Indian affairs, he having been Indian agent in the Indian territory, and rendered valuable aid to the commission of the Five Tribes. Mr. Tetters is also giving his time unsolicited to the matter in hand, and the people will be proud of these two gentlemen's labors. The naturally pleasing feature in the case is that opponents of the allotment of lands to the Indians do not find in them ready and willing listeners to their personal appeals. These officers have set about carrying out the provisions of the law in the interests of the whole people, and this will be consummated.

WHERE IS THAT AFRICAN?
Where is that African, and in whose woodpile is he ensconced? For many moons in the past the people of this live burg secured choice building stone close by—on the reservation, though. The red man shared alike in the measure, for after his white brother piled it from its virgin moorings in the earth, didn't poor Lo derive a pleasure from hauling it within the confines of the town? He dived and was happy in consequence. But a change came floating over all this, invoked by some of those who dwell within the townsite.

Among my private Washington letters I find that some people made a "kick," and it came to the Indian bureau in a way that made that bureau sick. No wonder. That bureau had all along been thinking that the people, situated within an Indian reservation on a mile square of ground, were each and all endowed with sufficient common sense to realize when they had a good thing. But the evidence is dead against any such hypothesis. Some people demand that the Indian bureau stop the hauling of stone off the Indian lands. Bear in mind that said stone wasn't being hauled to Salt Lake—it was being hauled right into Pocatello. It was then and is now needed for building purposes. And it was stopped, too. And now the whole world can join in the laugh given Pocatello. There are now being erected here some large buildings, and one of them was built of this kind of stone up to the last story, and then work had to be stopped. The stone is all in readiness, but can't be hauled off the Indians' land. A request has been sent on to Washington asking permission to get enough of the stone to finish the building. The request should be granted. But at the same time, did the bureau ask that stone be also taken for the new school building? There is no evidence in the affirmative. Then will the Herald promptly ask the Indian bureau grant the taking from the reservation, at once, sufficient stone to be used in the erection of the much-needed and elegant school building for the east side of town.

The bonds have been sold and the money has been lying for months in the bank for this purpose, and what do we find? We find nothing—noting but evidence of gross foolishness—the while the eight-room building on the other side of town is wholly inadequate to meet the requirements, as shown in these columns nearly two months ago. The contractors who took the work did so under the reasonable belief that they would obtain the stone as others had done before them—surely they cannot be held to blame.

STOP IT.
I respectfully submit to the Union Pacific folks something they should at once take cognizance of. I note that every day herds of small boys, ranging in age from five to twelve, are fastening themselves on the sides of moving cars, and very many of them are content only in taking to the "hurricane deck" and running along the length of the train while pulling in or out of the yard. It means a mangled boy any day now, if not suppressed.

NOTE AND PERSONAL.
Pocatello has at last one good band. The best musicians from Wood's band having doubled with the Gate City Silver band, making a strong organization of eighteen pieces.

Robert McCormick has purchased the Fariello block. On Thanksgiving day, A. F. Caldwell will entertain the newboys of the city at a grand turkey dinner at the Saddle Rock. Caldwell has a weakness for newboys and says that the sound of their voices on the streets is more musical to his ear than the blare of the brass bands.

The G. I. A. to the B. of L. E. will give their third annual ball at the Pavilion on the evening of December 21. Elaborate arrangements are being made, and it promises to be the most successful entertainment of the season.

On Thursday evening "Our" Social club gave one of the most enjoyable dances of the season. The music furnished by the new silver band orchestra was excellent music.

The Daughters of Rebekah will give a grand ball at the Pavilion Thanksgiving eve. It promises to be a very enjoyable occasion. "Our" Social club is the name of a dancing club recently organized in Pocatello. The club will give a dance every Thursday evening.

The merchants of Pocatello, beginning Monday, will close their places of business at 7:30 p. m. C. E. Wantland, of Salt Lake, and McAllister, Union Pacific land commissioner from Omaha, were here last Thursday. The gentleman left for Soda Springs accompanied by Engineer Roeder and for the purpose of running some additional lines there. I will say unreservedly that next season the frequenters of that famous resort will be agreeably surprised—the Union Pacific intend making good additional improvements as will fairly astonish the people. Hundreds of Salt Lakeurs will please make note of this.

The Union Pacific is ever on the line of improvement at this point. They are now putting in their own electric light plant, and will in addition to lighting their mammoth shops and building, light also their yards throughout. They are using a patent lamp on the same wire, and a Salt Lake house is filling the order for the whole outfit. Superintendent Callahan informs that the company will amount paid formerly to the electric light company here—a noteworthy point in itself.

A system of steam heat is now being put in at the round house and later on, it is believed, will be extended to much more of the company property.

ADDITIONAL BRICK SHOP.

As stated exclusively in The Herald some time ago, the Union Pacific people contemplate bringing to the Gate City of Idaho the balance of their machinery, but are yet confronted with the fact that additional and fire-proof room must be provided before the job can be taken. It would not do to remove everything here and run the risk of fire, and it is a disaster to fire some time which would seriously cripple them, indeed, if all the Mountain division machinery did not suffer destruction. Railway companies ever have an eye to the future, and so saying, what's the matter with the people here? Are they as yet in a state of apathy as they are just taking a nap? I ask this in their own interest. If they will rouse up momentarily, I would like to whisper something in their pendant ears. It's this: You people had best set about taking in that which is within your grasp, for if you don't, I can name some other people that are not napping—in fact never go to sleep when the best interests of a community are at stake. You want these additional brick shops—you need them in your business—you want all that can come to the Gate legitimately. You need those one hundred or more skilled mechanics that will fall in here simultaneously with the opening of said shops. You need them here to buy houses; to buy goods from your merchants. You need them to add to and build up your already prosperous community.

A BUILDING BOOM.
Pocatello is enjoying quite a building boom. The large two-story building of Sell & Teuss, on Cleveland avenue, is rapidly nearing completion, and if the trouble over the securing of the stone is adjusted, will be ready for occupancy in a few days. The new two-story brick on Centre street is going right on. The building will be a handsome one, and as soon as completed will be occupied by Spahr Bros., and a restaurant in one of the other store rooms. The up-

KIDNEY COMPLAINT!

There is no disease more prevalent than Kidney disease. Any one thus afflicted need not be informed of the disease with which they suffer, for about every time they move day or night they are forcibly reminded of the fact by the pain in the back, the head, the eyes, the ears, the nose, the throat, the lungs, the stomach, the bowels, the bladder, the skin, the hair, the nails, the teeth, the bones, the muscles, the nerves, the blood, the circulation, the system, the whole. Bright's disease of the kidneys is incurable. You may have kidney disease and never know it until it is too late. You may have Bright's disease (or consumption) of the kidneys, but remember if you have any form of kidney disease you have that which tends toward Bright's disease, as surely as any form of lung disease tends toward consumption of the lungs. There is no necessity of fretting or pining away from pain of body and horror of mind from the effects of this life-destroying, peace-disturbing kidney disease, for the E. and E. Constitutional Remedies will cure all forms of kidney complaint (except Bright's disease) in a few weeks time. You do not have to take medicine the rest of your days or go into treatment on the installment plan; these Constitutional Remedies remove the conditions which give rise to your kidney trouble for they remove the cause of all constitutional derangement. These remedies can be had at the office only, and are within the reach of all. Send toward Bright's disease, as surely as any form of lung disease tends toward consumption of the lungs. There is no necessity of fretting or pining away from pain of body and horror of mind from the effects of this life-through, over, under and around Pocatello. It is the question of the hour, and standing upon one end of opportunity's balance we see the beckoning form of possibility, and the other end will doubt's expanding image, and in the centre sits judgment weighing the decision that is soon to obliterate one of the two suppliants.

FREE DELIVERY.
They are after something else here now—free delivery. It will be granted them, too. The law requires only a population of 5,000, and this they have, which insures the much coveted boon. In Denver and other cities they now run mail cars on the street railway lines, and it wouldn't surprise me to see Brother Moore come out next week and reel off a few reasons for the granting of that franchise on those same lines.

WANT "OUR JOE" TO HELP.
Idaho people are wondering if it will not be possible to enlist the services of Hon. J. L. Rawlins on Idaho reservation matters, well knowing that such services would greatly benefit them. He will find some Idaho people there in Washington shortly, and they will at least talk matters over with him, if he will do no more.

The traveling correspondent don't greatly wonder that Senator Dubois "wasn't at home" in Salt Lake to one of the local staff. The senator may well think The Herald is not done with him—nor is it. There is just one more column to go up on Fred T. Dubois, and it is good enough to hold back until about the assembling of Congress, and then appear in "senate" form. That column will be all of his own making, and I can promise there will be no denial of it—the grounds have been dressed off too securely for that.
